SPECIAL NOTICES.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY THE DIRECTORS OF the Franklin Fire Insurance Company of Washington, D. C., at a regular meeting of the company, held May 3, 1807, on the announcement of the death of Dr. John M. McCalla:

WHEREAS, in the disposition of Providence, Dr. John M. McCalla: has been removed by death from eur midst, having actively and zealously served as a director in the Franklin Fire Insurance Company for over a quarter of a century, and has at all times proved himself a wise counsellor and an efficient supporter of this company, and by his upright character and manly learning has endeared himself to each one of us; therefore, be it RESSOLVEID. That in his death we recognize the loss of a devoted friend and a valuable associate in the management of the affairs of our company, and sincerely lament his separation from us, at the same time bowing in submission to the will of heaven, and most deeply sympathizing with his stricken family in their great bereavement.

RESSOLVEID. That a copy of this action be sent to the surviving members of the family.

Colored Baptists Decide to Establish an In- Katie Vandevere, With Several Aliases, Ardependent Publishing House.

Unanimous Action Upon a Resolution to That End by Maryland and District of Columbia Convention.

The annual meeting of the Maryland and District of Columbia Baptist convention, which began Wednesday in Shiloh Church, northwest, closed last evening.

The most important business transacted during the entire session was that of yesterday, when the convention, by a practically unanimous vote, decided to organize ntrusted the executive board of the co vention with the duty of putting the machinery of the new department Into opera-

The adoption of this resolution was the result of many years of persistent effort on the part of Rev. Dr. Harvey Johnson of Baltimore, one of the old veterans of the denomination, who has for more than a quarter of a century advocated the placing of the colored Baptists in the very front of aggressive church movements.

Dr. Johnson's Criticism. In his speech yesterday, after offering the resolution to create the new department, Dr. Johnson complained bitterly of the manner in which the colored Baptists of the United States, according to his view, have for a long time been treated by the American Baptist Publication Society, whose headquarters are in Philadelphia. In particular, Dr. Johnson charged discrimination against colored authors in refusing to print books. fusing to print books even when the au-thors offered to pay the entire charges, and said the colored Baptists of this coun-and said the colored Baptists of this country would labor under unnecessary disadvantages until they had a publication house of their own.

Dr. Voss, agent of the American Baptist Publication Society, endeavored to reply to Dr. Johnson, but was interrupted. He said, however, that the reason the society he represented had declined to print the books referred to by Dr. Johnson was that they were too busy.

were too busy.
"Then," said Dr. Johnson, "we want a publication house that has got time to do our work." This remark elicited enthusiastic and oft This remark elicited enthusiastic and oft-repeated applause. Dr. Voss again fried to speak, but the chair ruled that, having been permitted to present at length, the day be-fore, the claims of the American Baptist Publication Society, he could not be al-lewed to again address the convention.

Dr. Alexander Approves. Rev. Dr. W. M. Alexander of Baltimore secured the floor, although there was a manifest disposition on the part of the convention to close the debate at once and take a vote. In a brief speech Dr. Alexander indorsed all that Dr. Johnson had said in regard to the alleged discrimination, and said he believed the time had arrived when it was the duty of the colored Baptists to have a publication house of their own; if they did not, the denomination would soon begin to retrograde.

begin to retrograde.

Rev. Mr. Freeman of Maryland, one of the oldest ministers in the convention, created a scene of wild enthusiasm by taking from his pocket a silver half dollar, which he showed to the convention, accompanying this action with the remark: "Here is the last half dollar of a considerable sum of money set apart by me for the purchase of books; all the rest has gone into the treasury of the American Baptist, Publication Society."

By Unanimous Vote-At this point the debate was closed. The chair put the question relative to the orwhich was adopted by a practically unani-

After an address on "The State of the Country," by Prof. John M. Langston, which received marked attention and was frequently interrupted by applause, the convention adjourned sine die.

It is the opinion among those best informed that the action of the convention in establishing a publishing house for colored people will eventually result in the loss to the American Baptist Publication Society of the greater part of its trade from the south, which is now said to be very large.

Accused of Robbing Mrs. Mertens Her Former Employer-Entered the House Through the Back Door.

rested on That Charge.

A young woman, who may have been good-looking a long time ago, but whose face shows the result of extreme dissipation, was a prisoner in the Police Court this morning on the charge of burglary, and she was sent to jail because there was no one who was willing to become responsible for her. Her name is said to be Katie Vandevere, although she is also known as a colored Baptist publication society, and May Winfield, with the additional aliases of know, the young woman has never before figured in police circles as a prisoner, but her manner of clearing the way to commit this burglary shows that sne would stand in well with the noted criminals of this

Jewelry Worth $1,000. The charge against her is that she entered the house of Mr. Frederick Mertens, No. 1111 6th street, Thursday night and stole about $1,000 worth of jewelry and a $10 bill. When Mrs. Mertens discovered Thursday night that she had been robbed. she called in the police, and yesterday Detectives Boyd, Helan and Hartigan made an investigation, which resulted in the arrest of the Vandevere woman at her room, on C street northwest between and 4½ streets, and the recovery of all the jewelry and 57 of the money.

When the officers visited the house of Mr. Mertens and made their investigation. they found that an entrance had been efthey found that an entrance had been effected by breaking the glass from the back door, which enabled the burgiar to slide the bolt and open the door. Every room in the house was searched by the woman, clothing and other articles had been thrown carelessly about the floors. The jewelry and money only had been taken.

Mr. Mertens, who is in the coal business, was in Cumberland at the time, and Mrs. Mertens was away from the house. She had received an anonymous note, which it is now claimed was written by the prisoner. In this note the writer asked Mrs. Mertens to call at a house on 9th street southwest, and requested that she drezs as plainly as possible, and that she wear no jewelry. Just who wanted to see her and about what Mrs. Mertens did not know, but thinking the mission was a charitable one, she went in search of the house indicated, leaving her home without any protection. She went to 9th street any protection. She went to 9th street scuthwest, and found that it stead of a dwelling there was a vacant lot at the point designated, and realizing that there was something wrong, she returned home only to discover that a visitor had been there during her absence.

The Woman Suspected. When the detectives learned that a woman had been seen to leave the house with a bindle, Mrs. Mertens recalled the fact that Katie Vandevere had been a servant in her house more than a year ago. She was a good servant, but she was addicted to the use of laudanum to such an extent that she could not be trusted, and for this reason Mrs. Mertens dispensed with her services. The detectives felt reasonably certain that the burgiar was none other than the former servant, and they went in search of her, finally locating her at the house on C street. went in search of her, finally locating her at the house on C street.

Very little is known of her identity by the police. Katle says she has been in Pittsburg and Philadelphia, and she had intended to leave the city yesterday, but she had taken a dose of laudanum which was too much for her. When taken to police hesdquarters she told of her habit of using laudanum, and said she had lived in houses of ill-repute from time to time. The case will be called for trial Monday morning.

Police Regulations Amended. Section 5, of article 4 of the police reguations, relating to the locations of hack stands, was today amended by the Commis sioners striking out the clause: "On the southeast corner of 41/2 street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, six vehicles, and inserting in lieu thereof the following "A stand for six vehicles on the east sid "A stand for kix vehicles on the east side of 4½ street northwest, two to be located between the rear line of the main building at the southeast corner of 4½ street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest and McDermott's alley; the other four to be located on the east side of said 4½ street, the right resting immediately south of the side-walk on the south side of Missouri avenue, and when a vacancy occurs on that part of the stand near Pennsylvania avenue the vehicle first occupying the stand south of Missouri avenue shall have the privilege of occupying the place so made vacant.

When seen last night Mrs. Conde declar ed that the announcement had not been authorized by either her husband or her-self, and that it was her impression that the notice had been published at the in-stance of Ensign Stone. "He has been a caller at my house," said Mrs. Conde. "He has been a most persistent suitor for my caller at my house," said Mrs. Cende. "He has been a most persistent suitor for my daughter's hand, but myself and husband frowned on his aspirations and forbade him calling at our house. Knowing we were about to go away to our country seat at Oswego, he took this method, I believe, to embarrass us. He proposed to my daughter that she marry him before she went to the country."

Mrs. Conde said that the shock of the affair had prevented her accompanying her
